“MUSIC CITY” -- NASHVILLE
The sounds coming from Nashville are those authentic, soulful, powerful and unpretentious that can only come from the place where music is inspired, written, recorded and performed.

There is only one Music City. Begin your tour on Lower Broadway, where Honky tonks like Tootsie’s Orchid Lounge and Robert’s Western World line the street. You never know who you might see (or hear), a current star or the next big thing. Then, catch star-dusted pickers and songwriters in places like the bluegrass-y Station Inn, the rockin’ Exit/In or the song-centered Bluebird Café. Of course, the ultimate country venue is the Grand Ole Opry House, where every Tuesday, Friday and Saturday, legends and current stars perform on the nation’s longest-running live radio program.

For the history enthusiasts, Nashville is home to a pristine collection of antebellum - pre-Civil War - estate mansions: Belle Meade, where a string of winning thoroughbreds was raised; The Hermitage, presidential home of Andrew Jackson; and Belmont Mansion, drenched in Victorian grandeur. Tour the beautifully-restored hilltop State Capitol building, then walk down to the educational Tennessee State Museum for a better understanding of the state’s history and culture.

Nashville’s creative spirit has certainly infiltrated into its kitchens, turning them into the chef’s studio. From Southern fare to haute cuisine to quite literally everything in between, Nashville’s palate offers it all. Throughout the city, you’ll find chef-driven havens of fine dining, as well as craft breweries, artisan distilleries, and coffeehouses galore. Don’t forget hot chicken—a Nashville specialty that you cannot leave Music City without a taste of.

Dubbed the Athens of the South for its elegance, style and many academic institutions, Nashville claims a full-size replica of the Parthenon, in Centennial Park, and the 42-ft high statue of Athena, tallest indoor sculpture in the western world. The Frist Center for the Visual Arts, an exquisitely converted Art Deco post office, hosts roving exhibitions changing every few months, and the mansion at Cheekwood houses an extensive art gallery surrounded by 55 acres of divine gardens. From the fresh and innovative exhibits on display in the galleries that make up 5th Avenue of the Arts, you’ll see there is no shortage of creativity found in Nashville’s art community.

We created four principal rooms organized clearly—all of which are situated in close proximity. This way, you can easily find the lecture that suits your educational needs and change rooms if you so desire without a lot of travel time.

We have gathered many new speakers, some world-wide experts; we have also included some of our talented but less frequent speakers who are now the centerpieces of the program.

We have streamlined content to enhance your educational experience. We eliminated the instructional courses and organized the entire program according to themes. We reduced redundant talks, while creating focused lecture sessions, containing lots of facts, new technology and emerging trends.

We have worked tirelessly to structure a beneficial program that is all-inclusive and maximizes the use of time. Whether or not you’ve attended an AAFPRS Annual Meeting, this year will set the new standard for meetings.

We hope to see you in Nashville—a perfect venue for what promises to be an unforgettable educational experience.

The American Academy of Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery (AAFPRS) was founded in 1964 and represents more than 3,000 facial plastic and reconstructive surgeons throughout the world. The AAFPRS is a National Medical Specialty Society of the American Medical Association (AMA). The AAFPRS holds an official seat in the AMA House of Delegates and on the American College of Surgeons board of governors.

IT IS HISTORY
In 1974, the Educational and Research Foundation for the American Academy of Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery (AAFPRS Foundation) was created to address the medical and scientific issues and challenges which confront facial plastic surgeons.

The AAFPRS Foundation established a proactive research program and educational resources for physicians in facial plastic surgery. Through courses, workshops, and other scientific presentations, as well as a highly respected fellowship training program, the AAFPRS Foundation has consistently provided quality educational programs for the dissemination of knowledge and information among facial plastic surgeons.

In the early 1990s, FACE TO FACE humanitarian programs were established so that AAFPRS members could use their skills and share their talent helping the less fortunate. To achieve her and abject relief of the poor,

• FACE TO FACE, International brings AAFPRS members to third world countries where they treat children with facial birth defects and anomalies.
• FACE TO FACE: The National Domestic Violence Project allows AAFPRS members to perform surgeries on survivors of domestic abuse here in the United States who have received injuries to their faces.

The newest member to FACE TO FACE is Faces of Honor. This program offers free surgical care for soldiers who have been injured in the line of duty.
